OUR MISSION

As the world embraces new technologies like blockchain, cryptocurrency, NFTs, and decentralized finance (DeFi), the film industry is primed for a technological breakthrough. Not just in the equipment and processes by which films are being made, but the methods by which these projects are developed and financed.

For too long, up and coming filmmakers have struggled to secure financing for their vision. Now is the time to transform the film industry into a free film society, and allow filmmakers from around the world equal opportunity to fulfill their dreams and bring their visions to life.

CoinFlix aims to present filmmakers the opportunity and resources to manifest their film projects into reality, and witness their own work played in movie theaters and streaming around the globe. All while presenting audiences with unique and original content, unburdened by the status quo of Hollywood's "safe" investment model.

By way of our decentralized platform, exclusively dedicated to movies, and by attaching intellectual property rights to an NFT (non-fungible token), films that otherwise would never have been made will achieve financing, production, and distribution.

Movies and film production are coming to the blockchain.

CoinFlix is a decentralized financial platform dedicated to movies and the filmmakers who create them. Through our network of production organizations and filmmakers, we are teaming up to produce the projects that move and entertain us. CoinFlix allows filmmakers from around the world to develop, produce, finance, and distribute their projects using the power of the CoinFlix community and the security of the blockchain.

Our business model is designed to reinvest profits back into CoinFlix tokens, and by capitalizing on our network of organizations, CoinFlix will create co-production opportunities for independent filmmakers. Through all of this, we can ensure high quality production as well as distribution of each project that is produced.

Future partnerships will allow CoinFlix tokens to be accepted in all our partner locations. From your local movie theater to streaming platforms, CoinFlix aims to be the premier cryptocurrency for entertainment.

CoinFlix is dedicated to helping your favorite filmmakers do what they do best, make movies.

Did you know that, just in the US, over 65,000 scripts are registered each year with the writers guild? Of those, only about 1% are ever produced into a movie.

The other 99% never see the light of day.

CoinFlix is here to change that.

Today, cryptocurrency and blockchain are the most explosive growth sectors in technology. Blockchain programming and cryptocurrencies are already associated with many human activities and interactions. It is no exaggeration to say the combination of filmmaking and blockchain stands to be the greatest change to the film industry since the invention of the digital camera.

CoinFlix aims to be at the heart of this transformation as we support the next generation of master filmmakers get their projects off the ground and into the homes of movie lovers everywhere.
